

BE A RESOURCE TO THOSE WHO

DREAM

Migration is Beautiful.

- COLLEGE ACCESS -

College access programs and strategies are intended to remove barriers, provide academic support and help with a smooth transition into a higher education. We can make a difference by broadening the scope of these programs and strategies

-RETENTION, CONTINUATION, COMPLETION -

The high student attrition rates are alarming for both K-12 and higher education professionals. As you work with undocumented students, seek out opportunities to collaborate and build partnerships with higher education colleagues.

- MAKING COLLEGE MORE AFFORDABLE -

College affordability is the number one barrier stated by all students, particularly undocumented students, who are unable to receive federal financial aid. Understand how to address these financial needs when speaking with undocumented students.

-FAMILY INVOLVMENT AND SUPPORT-

One of the most important factors in college student achievement is parental involvement and family support. Families of undocumented students typically hold high aspirations for their children, but may not always understand the processes, resources, or educational norms of the U.S.
