

UTAH'S UNDOCUMENTED POPULATION

Pew Research Center

In 2012, The Pew Research Center estimated Utah's undocumented population comprised up to 3.6% of the state's populace, putting Utah amongst the top 15 states with the largest share of undocumented immigrants. When translated into actual numbers, Utah has approximately 100,000 individuals living in the state at the time of the study.

Nationally, the majority of undocumented immigrants in 2012 were from Mexico, comprising 52.4% of the total undocumented population. The most recent growth has been among those from Central America and Asia, which respectively make up approximately 15% and 12% of the undocumented population.
